DOM manipulations

DOM manipulation enables dynamic updates to a webpage by allowing developers to change the content, structure, and style of a web page without reloading the page. This is done by interacting with the Document Object Model (DOM) using JavaScript. It selects elements using methods like getElementById or querySelector. It can then alter these elements by changing their properties, such as innerText for text or style for CSS styles.